I am James MacPherson and I am co-running with Johnny Kwon to become SESS VP Finance next year. I am first year and hoping to get into mechanical engineering in second year. I have been trying to get involved with the SESS and other engineering groups throughout first year. I am the current Volunteer Commissioner for the SESS and I am on First Year Council as well. I believe that my partner and I would be a great fit for the position of VP Finance. I am hard-working, reliable, and I care about the SESS and what they do for our college and I would like to keep that going as well as I can.

I am Johnny Kwon and I am co-running with James MacPherson for the position of VP Finance. This year would be my first year being part of the SESS council, so please help me out throughout the year. I want to improve the store by adding and removing inventory of the store and keep the legacy of the past VP Finance. James and I will be open to any suggestion for what we should sell.

We believe that we would be a great fit for VP Finance and we are willing to work and stick with the position for all of next year. We will both be very busy with our classes next year, which is why we decided it was in our best interest to partner up and work together. This way we will be able to work together and lean on each other for support, double check each other’s decisions before we follow through and be accountable to each other and be available more of the time. We don’t plan on changing much, mainly due to the fact that the whole position was redesigned just over a year ago and it would be almost pointless to do it again so quickly. This doesn’t mean we aren’t going to do a good job, we are going to put as much effort into this as is necessary, and we plan to accept suggestions for how we run the store. Thank you very much for considering us to be your next VP Finance and we can both guarantee that we will not let you, the college of engineering, down.
