

Hello future University of Saskatchewan engineers!

My name is Carmelle Pauly and I believe I have what it takes to be your next vice president (VP) of communications for the Saskatoon Engineering Student Society (SESS)! The SESS is a remarkable group of students within the college who are motivated to making a difference to the student experience. VP communications is responsible for acting as the intermediary between the student discipline societies and affiliated groups, and the SESS. VP communications must ensure to fulfill all student groups advertising requests and relay them effectively to the engineering students. It is also the responsibility of VP communications to construct a weekly newsletter (the Eng-Info) including all necessary information pertaining to that week concerning the students. I believe I will be able to perform the role of VP communications effectively because I am reliable and responsible. I will ensure to communicate effectively to the student discipline societies and affiliated groups and provide them with the necessary advertising. I am also very approachable, and I can direct students to the right place if they are in need of SESS services. If I get elected as VP communication, I will provide very clear explanations of what different acronyms and phrases within the college stand for. As a first-year student, it can feel very frustrating seeing these acronyms and not know what they mean. I want to ensure that this is minimized for first year students next year as I believe it will make them feel more comfortable within their own college. Please vote for me if you think I am fit for VP communications and I promise that I will not let you down if I get elected.
