PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Hey everyone,

I hope you are all feeling better than I was after Sno-Golf, and are ready for another week in this brick box we call home.

This week, SESS executive campaigning starts! If you want to make a difference, you should definitely consider running for an SESS Executive position. Nomination forms are in the office, and are due tomorrow (Tuesday).

The USES F Forum is today at noon in the Students Lounge (1C10). Please stop by and ask any and all questions you have about the USES F! The referendum opens in one week.

This Friday sees a bubble soccer game between Engineers and Agros during halftime of the Men's Hockey Game. Tickets are free (bring your student card), and all you have to do is wear red and come play some bubble soccer! The winner will get a free party room at Sports on Tap! Bring your friends and make Eng proud (and more importantly, beat the Agros)!

Unfortunately, it's midterm season again. If you want to host tutorials (and get some nice reimbursement for it), please contact David McPhee at vp.student-affairs@sess.usask.ca.

SAF application forms are out and available in the office. Please pick them up and get your slice of the pie.

Discipline Jacket, Poofie, and Armbar order forms are also available in the SESS Lounge. They are due on the 14th.

That's all I got for you. I hope you all have a great week!

Cheers,
Dayne G.

— 100 YEARS FLASHBACK —

2003: A fishy situation...

Continuing the trend of jabbing at the Agros, these pranksters built large aquariums in the doorways of the Ag lounge and filled them completely up with water just before leaving! Of course, witty taunts were painted on the glass to greet the Agros when they arrived in the morning. This stunt took place in 2003.
