PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Happy Monday!

After a week packed with networking opportunities comes the biggest USask Engineering event of the year, the 48th Annual C.J. Mackenzie Gala! I hope you were all able to snag tickets before they closed last week.

If you are an SESS member, come to our Annual General Meeting on Thursday to learn about what we've been up to, share your input on the society, and enjoy free donuts!

Good luck to the teams competing in SaskInvent's Nuclear Energy Hackathon on Sunday!

Happy Monday, Engineers!

I hope you all had a fantastic weekend (though it felt way too short—can we petition for three-day weekends yet?). As assignments, projects, and lab reports start to pile up, remember to take it one step at a time. You've got this!

Congratulations to our SESS Social Award E Winners! Katie Berdahl, Rattil Hassan, and Lucas Kessler received this year's SESS Social E Award! These awards recognize students who have gone above and beyond to contribute to our campus community. They were presented during the SESS Winter Formal last week, which was an amazing night full of good food and great company. Huge thanks to everyone who attended and helped make it a night to remember!

Calling all SESS members! The SESS Annual General Meeting (AGM) is happening this Thursday at 4:30 pm in 1B12. This is your chance to hear what your SESS executive has been up to this term, vote on important policy changes, and share your thoughts about how we can make the SESS even better. Oh, and did I mention there will be free donuts?

UPCOMING EVENTS

JAN

SESS Annual General Meeting

Calling all members! Learn about what the SESS Exec has been up to, vote on policy changes, and enjoy free donuts!

... and more!

This past weekend, the University of Saskatchewan proudly hosted the Western Engineering Competition (WEC), where we welcomed talented teams from 11 universities across Western Canada. From design challenges to case studies and debating competitions, students showcased their problem-solving skills, creativity, and teamwork. A huge thank-you goes out to our volunteers and organizing committee who made this event a success. Pulling off a regional competition of this scale is no small feat, and your efforts didn't go unnoticed!

And of course, we couldn't be prouder of our USask students who competed. Whether they were building towers in the junior design category or designing autonomous paper folding devices, they demonstrated skill, creativity, and resilience. Way to represent our engineering community on the regional stage!

That's all for now! Catch you all next week:)
Sarah K.
